

E-Medical Webpage and Communication Disclaimer Language

Web Site Disclaimer

In serious cases and cases of emergency, seek immediate assistance from emergency personnel. The information provided on this web site is intended to educate the reader for general informational purposes only. It is not a substitute for examination, diagnosis, and medical care by a licensed and qualified health professional. Nothing on this Web site should be used for treatment or diagnosing a medical or health condition. For medical concerns, including decisions about medications, you should always consult with your physician. The information contained on this Web site and the interactions, if any, by and through this Web site are not intended to or implied to be professional medical advice. You are encouraged to consult other resources and confirm the information contained herein. You should always consult with your physician or other qualified healthcare provider. If you have or suspect you have a medical problem, please contact a physician or a qualified healthcare provider. Nothing contained herein is intended to create or maintain a physician-patient relationship where one is not already expressly established.

Sample Disclaimer Statements

“The information, opinions and recommendations, contained in this website are for educational purposes only.”

“Such information is not intended to be a substitute for professional medical advice, diagnosis, or treatment.”

“Do not act upon any information provided in this website without first seeking medical advice”.

Linkage Disclaimer

“...links to other Web sites are provided for your convenience only, and should not be considered and shall not be deemed as an endorsement or recommendation by our practice of such other Web sites or their content. We are not responsible for the availability, the content, or damage which may be caused by other Web sites. Your linking to any other any other Web sites is at your own risk...”

Physician-Patient Disclaimer

“... nothing contained in any aspect of this electronic communication is intended to create a ‘physician-patient’ relationship...”

8/2009